As a resident, taxpayer and property owner, I emphatically support Mohave County and the City of Kingman's request to implement an Irrigation Non-Expansion Area (INA) for the Hualapai Basin Aquifer and any sub-basins to protect a valuable resource for our area and stop irresponsible corporate agricultural growth that threatens residents' groundwater levels.

I was astounded to find out that these businesses are NOT PROHIBITED from drilling as many wells as they want, as large as they want, as deep as they want, are NOT PROHIBITED from pumping unlimited quantities of groundwater and are NOT REQUIRED to meter large-volume wells or report how much water those wells are pumping in order to maintain a healthy basin.

International and out-of-state corporate farmers are exploiting our finite resources for their profit and our peril. When the water runs out, they will simply move to the next victim, like locust. Please stop selling rural Arizona to the highest bidder.

Sincerely,
Amy Curley
