Re: Recommendation to Maintain the Drought Emergency Declaration PCA99006 and Drought Declaration issued by Executive Order 2007-10

Dear Mr. Moore,

This letter provides the Fall 2017 update on Arizona's drought conditions and recommendation to the Governor from the Drought Interagency Coordinating Group (ICG). The ICG is an advisory body to the Governor, composed of state, federal and non-governmental organizations. This group meets in the spring and fall to evaluate drought conditions and provide recommendations to the Governor regarding emergency declarations due to drought.

The updates presented at the November 16, 2017, ICG meeting confirmed that Arizona remains in a long-term drought, with 60 percent of the state experiencing abnormally dry conditions. Based on the information presented at the meeting, the Governor's Drought Interagency Coordinating Group unanimously recommends that the state's Drought Emergency Declaration (PCA99006) and Drought Declaration for the State of Arizona (Executive Order 2007-10) be continued. No further action is required to maintain both declarations already in place.

Sincerely,
